NORTHWESTERN STATE COLLEGE

MAY, 1949

WELCOME HOME, ALUMNI

Gibson Resigns; To Take Position at Tulane

President Joseph E. Gibson tendered his resignation as President of Northwestern State College to the State Board of Education the latter part of April. His resignation was accepted by the Board at their meeting on May 2.

In his letter of resignation, President Gibson stated that he was resigning to accept an important position at Tulane University as director of promotional activities, a position that will permit him to render a great professional service to education. He served at Tulane as Professor of Education from 1936 to 1941. He then became Director of Higher Education for the State Board of Education until 1946, when he returned to Tulane as director of the summer term. He was named President of N. S. C. and entered upon the duties of that office on July 1, 1947.

Mr. Gibson was well known in educational circles before coming to Louisiana. He was superintendent of schools at McComb, Miss., and president of Mississippi Education Association.

During his administration at the College, he has initiated a building program that includes a new Business Administration building, a Home Economics building, a new dairy, the reconstruction of Old Social into a new religious center, and a complete renovation and additions to the dining hall. A Science building is also being planned for the near future with construction of one wing to begin next school year.

Mr. Gibson expressed his gratitude to the faculty and staff, students of the College, the alumni and the people of Louisiana for their fine cooperation during his administration at the College.

Students, faculty and staff, and alumni regret that Mr. Gibson is resigning his position and wish to extend him every good wish for success and happiness in his new position.

The neon-lighted "N" stands silhouetted against the sky at twilight to bid welcome to all former students and graduates to the campus on any and all occasions, but it has a special brightness on Homecoming Day as a special welcome to our returning graduates and former students.

Summer Term Begins June 13

Registration for the regular nine weeks summer session will be on Monday, June 13. Class work will begin on June 14 and the session closes on Aug. 12. During the summer session a student will be permitted to earn a maximum of ten semester hours of work.

Room reservations in college residence halls should be made with the Office of Student Personnel as soon as possible. Out-of-town women students are expected to live in College residence halls or at approved homes in town. Residence arrangements must be approved by the Dean of Women in the case of women students.

The Department of Health and Physical Education will sponsor a weekly recreation night as well as canoe trips on Cane River Lake. Picnics and other types of entertainment for student groups will be scheduled from time to time during the session. A full program of intra-mural activities is planned.

The National Aquatic School, sponsored by the American Red Cross, will be held from May 29 to June 8. Interested men and women should contact Mr. Guy W. Nesom at the College.

Student teaching will be offered in both the elementary and high school departments. Prospective student teachers should apply to Dr. John B. Robson, Dean of the School of Education.

An observation seminar course in education will be open to both elementary and high school teachers. Conferences, lectures, and guided observation will be included in the course. Students may enroll in this course for six weeks with credit of four semester hours, or for nine weeks with credit of six semester hours.

Regular courses will be offered in all departments of the College to care for the needs of all students from beginning freshmen to seniors. Additional information may be obtained from the Office of the Registrar.

Picture of A Bright Spirit

BY MAMIE BOWMAN

There is a thrill in being associated with a bright spirit, literally or vicariously. I did not know Mrs. Julia Cooksey personally, but surely hers was a bright spirit if I may judge from her photograph, the testimonials of her friends and her niece, newspaper clippings concerning her, the records of her unselfish and competent service as a teacher for twenty years, as demonstration agent in Webster Parish for twenty-three years, and as a public-spirited citizen for thirteen years after her retirement in 1934. But more especially is her vivacious spirit reflected in her diary, most of which I have had the privilege of reading through the courtesy of her niece, Beth Davis.

Mrs. Cooksey was born Julia Baugh at Eureka, Louisiana, on September 22, 1870. She died August 25, 1947, at Minden. Her diary, or the portion I have seen, begins during her high school days in Homer, January, 1895. She was Julia Webb at the time, widowed by a Negro's shooting her husband—he had been deputized to arrest the Negro. She had lost her little boy, Willie, several years before leaving the "country" for "town life" in Homer. Her comments on teachers, lazy classmates, school routine, and beaux are bright, clever, and often in the vernacular which includes much slang that we are prone to think more recent than the gay nineties. One incident in this period is of particular interest here, for I believe it was then she dedicated her life to useful service:

"... I went over to Cousin Nettie's. On my way I met Maggie S. and Maud K. out walking. As I was well acquainted with Maggie, I addressed her by the familiar greeting of 'Hello, Maggie.' She very blandly informed me that she did not know who I was. 'Really,' says I. 'I believe I am mistaken too,' and was passing on without introducing myself when suddenly it popped into her mind that that was Miss Julia.

"Oh, Ye Gods. How things like that make my blood boil. Does having been bred and born in the country make me inferior to such as they? As I see it the honors are with the country, and I am proud to acknowledge that I am from the country. I intend to devote the rest of my life and work to the country. I have what it takes, and I shall find a way to help. Perhaps, as a class, we are a bit verdant as viewed from the lofty heights of such sophisticates. (One was born in or near the city (?) of Lisbon, a city (?) of perhaps fifty people. Can't say where the other one came from, possibly from Arkansas.) Lord, give me wisdom, and see that I never become a snob."

And she never was a snob.

Probably to the readers of this article, the vivid pictures Mrs. Cooksey paints of her trip to Natchitoches and her time at Normal will be of most interest.

"Several months have passed since I have written anything in my Journal. ... Having decided to attend school again am now at Natchitoches State Normal School. Left Athens on Thursday of the last week in October, 1895. Having never been very far from home it has been quite an experience to me. Stopped over in Athens to visit Mrs. Webb. ... Took the L. & N. W. to Gibsland then the V. S. & P. to Shreveport. Met a lovely old lady, a Mrs. Webb from Minden, on the train and expect she sized me up pretty thoroughly. She wanted to know if I had ever been away from home before and offered to see that (I) got to the hotel in Shreveport without having to pay a tallyho fare. ... When we got off the train she called for the Inn Hotel porter and Mr. Reynolds himself answered and walked with me the short distance. I had heard Pa speak of Mr. Reynolds and Mr. Tullos both, as he knew them personally. Mrs. Webb's thoughtfulness save(d) me money and maybe left a thought in my head to save when I could. My, my, there's so much for a country kid to learn. I just hope that good lady couldn't see just how I was quaking. Got a room at the Inn and left orders to be called at 5:00 o'clock as I must catch an early train in the morning. It was nearly impossible to get off to sleep but finally I made it and slept for a few hours. ... when Mr. Tullos came up for me I was ready to go. Guess I'll have to record those mutton ham, crinoline lined sleeves right here for they almost proved my complete undoing. Mr. Tullos thought I had better put on my coat as the early morning air was quite cool. He picked it up and held it for me to slip on. I thought of those crinoline sleeves but thought it would be silly to try to explain, so in my arms went—as far as they could go. That crinoline just bunched up and wouldn't go through the arm of my coat. Mr. Tullos crammed frantically at first one sleeve then the other trying desperately to get that coat on me while I was as helpless as a maniac in a strait-jacket. I stood it as long as I could then I declared it was on nicely and thanked him as best I could for I could see the funny little smile that quirked round his mouth and knew he was as much relieved as I was to have the ordeal over with even though both elbows stuck out at right angles and he knew as well as I did that the coat wasn't half on and that I looked like some big bird getting ready to fly. ... Caught my train and ... got ... to Natchitoches near the noon hour. The depot agent very kindly telephoned the Matron, Mrs. Donaho, that I (was) coming. Had to walk up to the school as there were no cabs available. Mrs. Donaho met me at the steps and was perfectly lovely to me and made me feel at home in no time. She even had some toast and coffee brought in as she knew I did not have time to get breakfast before leaving Shreveport. Was I grateful and did I appreciate her kindness in allowing me to have an opportunity to nap before the noon meal was served. There are 117 girls boarding in the club here and it is like one big family. Mrs. Donaho introduce(d) me to Alma Milling and put me in her charge to meet the others and be entertained till I was assigned to a room.

"The buildings here are what was once a Catholic Convent. I was first put in the dormitory which was the upper floor of the main building. It is divided in two central rows of cells just large enough to hold a bed and table. Everything else has to be put back in the attic under the rafters. A large stove heats the entire upper floor. We go to a class room for study at night. Am rooming with Miss Anna Hobdy. Played a prank on Anna one night that pretty nearly got me in Dutch. It had never occurred to me to be afraid with so many girls around and presumed that everyone felt as I did, so after leaving the study hall I went directly to our cell. Anna had stopped to warm by the stove. I dropped my books on the table and crawled under the bed without turning on the light. Presently Anna came in and stopped by the bed. I reached out and grabbed her foot. To say she was frightened puts it mildly and the commotion that was raised was all and a great deal more than I bargained for, and the girls assured me that I had better not let it get to the ears of Mrs. Donaho. Anna was angry and what she told me was plenty to last for the term at least.

"At present I am not in the cell to which I was first assigned. An epidemic of measles broke out and the infirmary was soon fill(ed) to overflowing. Our dormitory was soon a shambles with sick girls, and Mrs. Donaho refused to have them moved as she said there was no other room for either the sick or well girls so I packed my belongings, and was going home. Before I left I went down to see Col. Boyd, and tell him I was leaving. Of course he wanted to know my reasons for leaving, and before I realized it I had given the whole situation away. He advised me to wait another day and he would see what could be done. He must have had Mrs. Donaho on the carpet for she was simply furious with me, and gave me one more going over. We didn't speak for nearly a week but are on good terms now. Guess I came out winner for I got a nice room on second floor and the sick girls got every attention and convenience they needed.

"... It won't be long now before everybody will be going wild about commencement dresses. Guess the subject won't pester me much for my where-with will be run pretty low by that time. "March 18, 1899

"... I had to leave there (Normal) on the 13th of that March as Smallpox broke out and all the schools had to suspend operations. I didn't go back as I did not have sufficient money after speering around for a month."

Among Mrs. Cooksey's papers is a copy of one of her talks entitled "Ten Years of Home Demonstration Work in Webster Parish." She gives an estimate of herself that I could not amend except by adding the record of a few years, and emphasizing that through all she did she kept the bright spirit that colored her every effort.

"I have done no one great thing in my life but have tried to live up to the aim formed thirty-eight years ago, to give the best efforts of my life for the betterment of rural social and economic conditions. For thirty-eight years I have worked through rural schools and rural children and adults to improve educational advantages, (and develop) wholesome living conditions, and a better type of citizenship."

WILLIAM C. CONERLY

William Clarence Conerly, one year old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Conerly of Bellwood, is enjoying his first opportunity to get out in the snow. Mrs. Conerly is the former Ola Norsworthy, A. B. '39.

ALUMNI Here 'n There

We appreciate the letter just received from Mrs. Oscar R. Gordey (Nannie Belle Flowers, B. S. '44) of Route 1, Box 297-A, Baton Rouge. She and Mr. Gordey have two lovely children; William Presley Gordey, age 27 months, and Joan Susan Gordey, born April 12, 1949.

She states that she enjoys the Columns very much, particularly the personal items, and wonders why more people don't send in news about themselves. (Ed. note: We would appreciate it too.)

Mr. Marshall Mahan, A. B. '41, of Monroe, Michigan, spent the Easter holidays with his twin daughters, Laura and Kay, who are students at the College.

Mr. C. O. "Speck" Holland of Minden was just named "Man of the Year" by the Minden Chamber of Commerce. "Speck" has served the Alumni Association as its president on two different occasions. We congratulate him on the well deserved honor he has just received.

Woodrow "Doc" Turner, A. B. '36, of Columbia, writes that while attending the National Federation Rules meeting in Chicago this spring, where he gave a report on Research for Use of Athletic Equipment, he found a copy of Alumni Columns in his papers and took advantage of the opportunity to advertise his alma mater.

First Lieutenant Elvin C. Nichols, whose home town is Boyce, has recently been assigned to the Flight Service Center of Olmsted Air Force Base, Middletown, Penn., after six months of duty as a Berlin Airlift pilot.

Lt. Nichols entered service in 1942 and was commissioned as a pilot in 1943. During the war, he served a year and a half in the Pacific theater of operations.

Mr. C. G. Killen, Jr., A. B. '37, of Bennington, Vermont, was a recent visitor on the campus. He is employed by Sprague Manufacturing Company and is working as director in the testing and research department.

Mr. Willie L. Doxey, A. B. '34, 239 Albert Place, Elberon, New Jersey, visited the campus in April. He is doing research and testing crystalline materials in electronics for the Signal Corps.

Cupid's Doings

Miss Barbara Dell Chatwin of Shreveport, and MR. RALPH WHITENER, B. S. '46, of Marshall, Texas, were married on April 30 in the Sexton Memorial Chapel of the First Methodist Church, Shreveport. Reverend Rowland E. Crowder officiated at the nuptials.

Nursing Booklet Prepared

A brochure entitled "Prepare to Become a Professional Nurse" has just been released for distribution to prospective applicants for the Nursing Course that begins at the College this fall. The nursing program is affiliated with Highland Sanitarium, North Louisiana Sanitarium, Shreveport Charity Hospital, and Tri-State Hospital, all of Shreveport.

Students interested in this work should contact the Director of Nursing, N. S. C., Natchitoches, Louisiana.

Other officers elected were William C. Haddox, Vice-President; Miss Ida Spier, Secretary; and Mrs. Lucile Oliver, Reporter.

Calcasieu Alumni Meet May 12

The Calcasieu Parish Alumni are meeting at Masor's Cafe, Sulphur, on Thursday night, May 12, according to a letter from Erbon W. Wise, President of the local group.

The Calcasieu alumni have been holding regular meetings since their organization over a year ago and have been very active in enlarging their group and contacting alumni in their area.

Sabine Parish Alumni To Organize

The Sabine Parish Alumni meeting has been called for Tuesday night, May 10, at the Many High School Gymnasium. The alumni will meet to reorganize the local unit immediately following a program to be given by the Health and Physical Education department.

(LATE FLASH)

Dr. G. W. McGinty Is Named Acting President of NSC

Dr. Garney W. McGinty, A. B. '21, has just been named acting president of Northwestern State College by the State Board of Education at their meeting in Baton Rouge on Saturday, May 14.

Dr. McGinty, a native of Ringgold, is head of the Department of Social Science at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, a position he has held for many years. He was named by the State Board to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of President Joseph E. Gibson, effective July 1.

An alumnus of the College, Dr. McGinty will be no stranger to the campus and he will receive a cordial welcome from members of the faculty and staff when he takes over his duties here. We have every confidence that his administration will be a successful one, and that he will carry on the fine work and uphold the best traditions of the College.

R. L. Ropp Is Named Acting President of Louisiana Tech

At the same meeting of the Board of Education, R. L. Ropp, member of the faculty of the Language Department and Director of Forensics here at the College for many years, was named acting president of Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Professor Ropp will assume his duties at Louisiana Tech on July 1.

One Hundred Thirty-Two Seniors to Graduate at Spring Commencement

One hundred and thirty-two students are candidates for graduation in the spring commencement exercises to be held Monday, May 23, according to records in the Office of the Registrar of the College.

Thirty-seven students are candidates for the Bachelor of Arts degree and 95 are candidates for the Bachelor of Science degree.

Reverend Thomas J. Shields, president of Loyola University of the South, New Orleans, will be the commencement speaker. Dr. A. M. Serex, of the First Methodist Church of Monroe, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 22.
